

There will always be only one sample at the time, except for the beginning with the wind, which is why there is one pedal just for the wind volume.